

Course Name: Python Programmer

A Python programmer is a software developer skilled in Python, a versatile and high-level programming language. They write, debug, and maintain Python code to create a wide range of applications, including web and mobile apps, data analysis tools, machine learning algorithms, and automation scripts, leveraging Python's simplicity and extensive libraries.

